

Clinton Township School District Warmly Welcomes Two New Administrators

February 20, 2018

Ms. Alexa Ingram joins the district as the permanent Director of Special Services. Ms. Ingram has an extensive background in special education -- having first been a certified special education and general education teacher, she moved into administration with the NYC Department of Education, serving as the Director of Special Education Administration. She then became the Director of Professional Development & Special Education Projects and, finally, she served as the Executive Director of Special Populations. Next, the Trenton Public Schools named Ms. Ingram the Assistant Superintendent for Special Education & Services. For the past three years, she has been a Senior Consultant for Special Education & Interventions with Frontline Education. Ms. Ingram holds seven different certifications in NY and NJ for administration and teaching. She earned a B.S. in Tourism & Hospitality Management from Temple University, a M.S. in Urban Education from Mercy College, credentials in the School District Leadership Program, and a M.Ed. in Leadership for Educational Change (Special Education) from Bank Street College.

Mr. Andrew Carfley is the new Clinton Township Middle School Assistant Principal. He began his career in Bound Brook as a middle school special education teacher. He then moved to the Montgomery Township School District as a health and physical education teacher, where he created a new fitness-based PE program and collaborated to bring the Peer Leadership Program to his school. Mr. Carfley set his goals to become a school administrator by earning his NJ State Principal Certification of Eligibility and participating in every school-based opportunity to lead, along with completing an intensive year-long administrative practicum internship. While Mr. Carfley has extensive experience as a head coach in football, lacrosse, wrestling, baseball, and golf, he has also been active as a coach and leader in the Special Olympics of New Jersey. Mr. Carfley earned a B.S. in Sports Management & Marketing from Juniata College, a M.Ed. in Sport & Recreation Administration from Temple University, and a M.S. in School Administration from the University of Scranton.
